Street Blocked.

We all like to see improvement going on, and most people do so to find fault with the inconveniences which are necessarily occasioned by them, but when the everyday business of life is interfered with for needful at a stretch, when streets are blocked so as to compel them to abandon all highways, when for many weeks at a time, are torn up and waterways dammed up so as to turn the drainage into the streets, forbearance ceases to be virtue and the complaint of suffering citizens get to be more than justified. That is the condition of affairs in Decatur just now. Inconveniences and corporations take possession of the thoroughfares to the absolute exclusion of the traffic and travel on the highways, and this they seem to do without regard to the length of time they maintain the obstruction. East Corro Gooch street is a case in point. That street has been almost impenetrable for not less than three months in some portions of its length. In the narrow portion of the street, from Morgan street to the L. C. R. R., the telegraph lines have been piled in the middle of the street and traffic is forced to go around them. The pavements have been widened, great holes have been formed, and piles of mud still lie along the gutters, to the great obstruction of the water courses in these times of wet weather. The street is a mass of mireousness, so far as street men are concerned. It ought to be cleared of obstructions and put in proper condition for travel, and this ought to be done right away. The people who have been sent to use the street and it is out of the main thoroughfare leading to the depot have been inconvenienced too long already.

A Declaration.

The fundamental principles of the Oklahomans are that, as there are more than enough players in the L. & S. B. aggregation for two nations who want to play ball at least twice a week, it is not right for a few of those players to engage in a few more semi-professional players and arrange match games with other nations in vicinity, thus depriving a greater majority of the L. & S. club of the recreation and enjoyment of the regular games afford.

The Oklahomans do not therefore desire to receive and will not accept any outside challenges. The two nations have recently been reorganized and are very evenly matched. The game last Monday, score 6 to 7, was the most exciting of the season. If the weather is favorable there will be a game this evening.
